

Dental Volunteers for Israel (DVI)

was founded by Trudi Birger in 1980. A survivor of the Shoah, Trudi devoted her life to preventing the suffering of children. Through her efforts over the past 24 years, thousands of underprivileged children have received needed dental treatment. In September 2003, the clinic was renamed the Trudi Birger Dental Clinic in her memory.

DVI operates the only free dental clinic of its kind in the Middle East. It looks after the needs of Jerusalem's poor children, regardless of their religious and cultural backgrounds. It is a modern, state-of-the-art center, staffed by dedicated volunteer doctors from around the world.

D. Walter Cohen, Dean Emeritus of the University of Pennsylvania School of Dental Medicine, was a close friend of Trudi's. He was moved by her selflessness and the way in which she enriched the lives of those she touched. Dr. Cohen is a major supporter of DVI and has dedicated his many efforts to Trudi's dream.

With Your Help...Trudi's dream lives on.

Irwin Smigel, DDS

Irwin Smigel, DDS, acknowledged by his peers as the “father of aesthetic dentistry,” is a visionary who brought aesthetics to dentistry. He not only developed the technique, he also introduced bonding on national television in the mid-70s and has been at the forefront of every major development in aesthetics, from bonding to laminates, to teeth whitening, minimally invasive dentistry, and most recently, nonsurgical face-lift.

He has written over 150 articles on aesthetic dentistry and is the author of “Dental Health, Dental Beauty” and the forthcoming “Saving Face.” Dr. Smigel is the founder and current president of the American Society for Dental Aesthetics. He has been instrumental in the establishment of aesthetic dentistry centers at universities in Japan, Korea, India, Brazil, Israel and Turkey.
